The warmer weather means more outdoor activities. People are planning weddings, anniversaries, birthdays, and more. What if someone wanted to throw a unique, unforgettable party that guests will never forget? AJT Supplies believes they have the perfect answer: Foam Parties!

Albert J. Todesca, III is the driving force behind this endeavor. He has been in business for two decades, but always sees a wonderful opportunity for bringing smiles to people's faces while providing endless memories.

"There are two or three such places doing this in Massachusetts and one more in Connecticut. However, there was not anyone doing this type of entertainment in Rhode Island," he said.

Albert recalled how his new start-up company came to fruition, all of which happened within the last few years. Todesca purchased six bounce houses from a vendor, who saw no further use for them. Albert added more inflatables to his collection and now boasts more than 60 bounce houses. They offer a variety of products from inflatables to concession machines to make any event shine. Not only do they bring fun to you, but they also set up and break down everything needed for your event.

"Foam Parties" is exactly what it sounds like. Kids and adults can run around a huge pile of foam with age-appropriate music coming from a company-supplied DJ. It takes 20-30 minutes for them to set up the ultimate party experience. AJT uses a top-of-the-line foam cannon that shoots over six-feet high and can fill half a tennis court in size. Whether you rent their "Gaga Pit" as your foam zone, your driveway, or your backyard, they can accommodate any size party or occasion.

The foam they use is non-toxic, pet friendly, non-irritating, and it doesn't ruin the grass - making this a fun activity for all. For more excitement, they bring beach balls and other goodies to elevate the party experience.

"We know that once this idea gets out there, other groups, organizations and non-profit groups are going to want to follow suit. We also give back to charities such as donating thousands of dollars to Boston Children's Hospital and other worthy causes. We want to make our mark count in the communities," Albert said.

Event organizers can add other amenities such as a dunk tank or a water slide. They can even try their luck by renting their new claw machine that is filled with stuffed animals and other giveaways.

In addition to their foam parties, AJT Supplies has inflatables available for rent. People can choose from several types ranging from a traditional bounce house to combos and waterslides. There are enough options available for any occasion or any age.

Their website has several party packages listed as well as availability. Anyone may bundle the foam party or bouncy house with one of the other concession rentals at a great deal.

Foam Parties can also be a great team-building event for businesses who seek a new and exciting opportunity to impress their clients. He added that summer camps, campgrounds, gender reveals, and other kid-orientated organizations would be great partners. They provide daily or weekend rental rates and request one-day notice. They offer free pick up and drop off services.

They are currently scheduling parties throughout Northern Rhode Island and as far south as Warwick and Cranston through their website.
